“Problem cases... how do deal with them?”

We're pleased to announce the next Health Claims Forum meeting as follows:

Date: 21-11-2018

Title: “Problem cases... how do you deal with them?”

Location: Royal College of Psychiatrists - 21 Prescott Street, London, United Kingdom

The next meeting of the Health Claims Forum will take place on Wednesday 21st November. Please note, this will be preceded by our Annual General meeting which will start at 9:30a.m. and we encourage at least one person from each member office to attend.

To begin the day, David Ferguson, Underwriting & Claims Development Manager at Scor Global Life, will provide us with an overview of TPD claims looking at how experience has changed over the years based on a recent survey of SCOR's clients, and what may have helped drive these changes.”

Following on, Simone Millar, Claims Specialist, from Swiss Re will lead our morning session which will focus on some of the most common problems faced during the assessment of total and permanent disability claims, including establishing if permanence has been reached and looking at how best to assess some of the more subjective conditions that we see. This session will also look at evidence gathering on TPD claims and explore the toolbox of services available to the Assessor in helping to establish whether the TPD definition is met.

Rachel Roebuck, Clinical Director at Innovate Healthcare, will pick-up on the topic of the Assessor's toolbox and talk in more detail about some of the services that can be used to help assess TPD claims, when these services are best suited and how to get the most out of the referrals.

The morning will be underpinned by several case studies to help highlight some of the problem areas of TPD assessment and facilitate discussion around them and Dr Rob Rosa, CMO at Pacific Life Re, will on hand to contribute to the discussion and answer any questions that delegates may have.

In the afternoon, we are joined by Paul Reddick, Head of Medical Underwriting & Claims at Pacific life Re. Paul will inform us of the work of the ABI Critical Illness working group and speak about some of the problem areas commonly found by claims assessors, before a specialist speaker moves to the more sensitive topic of critical illness in children.

Rounding up our day our attention shifts towards the emerging problem of assessing overseas claims, which will include an interesting insight into the overseas healthcare system of Poland. This session will be explore the nature of a foreign healthcare system and cover access to healthcare as well as the limitations in the system that can make claims management increasing challenging.
