Diagnoses

1. Diagnostic classification
2. New diagnoses
3. Old chestnuts

DSM5

- Diagnostic and Statistical Manual – USA
- ICD-11 ready 2015-17 - ?2020
- Troubled history – reliability
- (Rosenhan experiment 1973)
- DSM-IV introduced clinical significance test
“clinically significant distress or impairment in social, occupational, or other important areas of functioning”

DSM5

- May 2013
- Still controversial
 - reliability,
 - role of pharma (69% committee members had ties)
- Initially rejected by NIMH

DSM5 Key changes

1. DEPRESSION

- Few changes
- “Premenstrual dysphoric disorder added”
- Bereavement exclusion removed

2. OCD

- Given own chapter
- Includes trichotillomania / body dysmorphic disorder

3. TRAUMA / STRESS RELATED

- Given own chapter
- Includes adjustment disorder, PTSD

PTSD

- Requirement for subjective response removed
- Now 4 clusters of symptoms
- Re-experiencing the event —, flashbacks or other intense or prolonged psychological distress.
- Heightened arousal —hyper-vigilance.
- Avoidance — For example, distressing memories, thoughts, feelings or external reminders of the event.
- Negative thoughts and mood or feelings — markedly diminished interest in activities, to an inability to remember key aspects of the event

DSM5

- Subtle changes in somatoform disorders
 - May have longer term influence
- Sexual disorders expanded
- Gambling disorder / tobacco use disorder

Post-traumatic embitterment

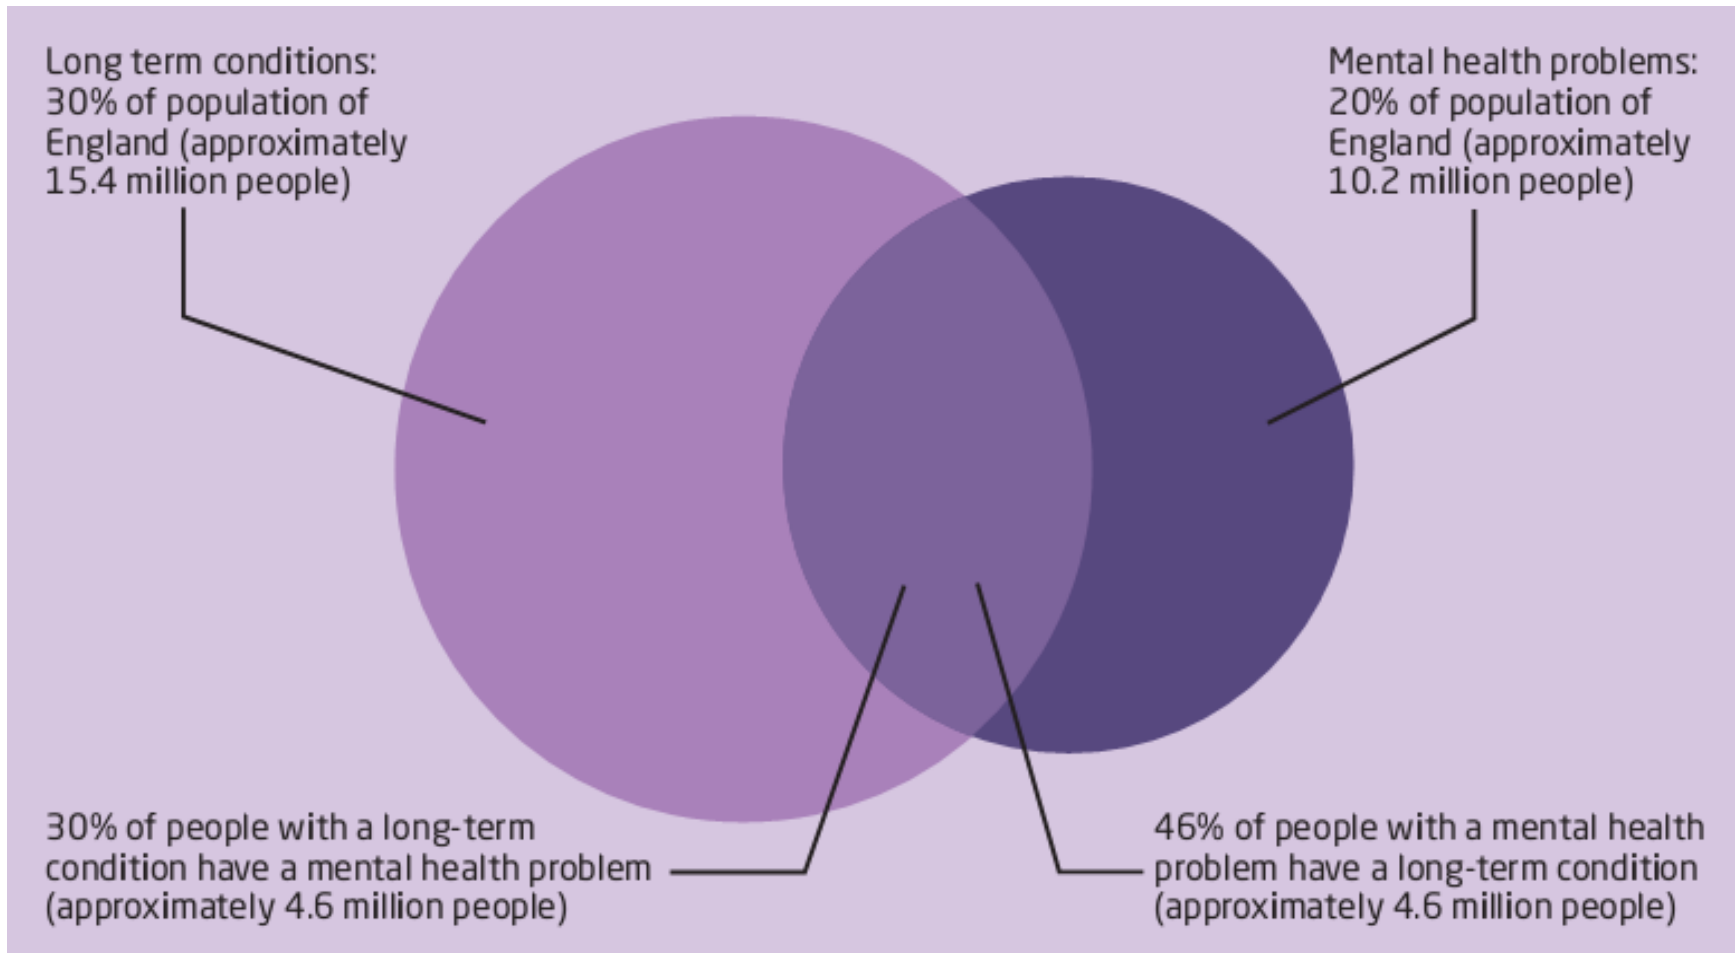

“an emotion encompassing persistent feelings of being let down, insulted or being a loser, and of being revengeful but helpless” (Linden)

1. Single exceptional event
2. Self-blame prominent
3. anger, rumination, helplessness and appraisals of injustice

Embitterment

- “Chronic” better than “post-traumatic”?
- Some overlap with depression anxiety and PTSD
- Some distinct features: focus on trigger episode rather than symptoms; desire to engage others
- Face validity but....
- Possibly higher prevalence in public sector
- More research needed

Physical/mental comorbidity

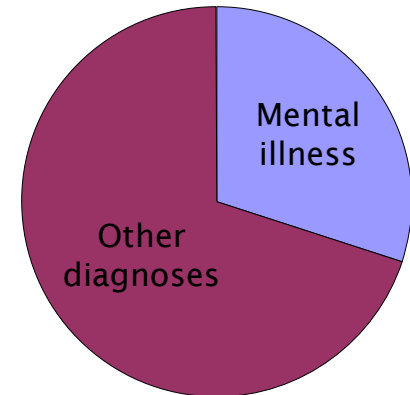

Anxiety and depression

Hazard ratio 4.90
(3.92 – 6.13)

Disability benefit

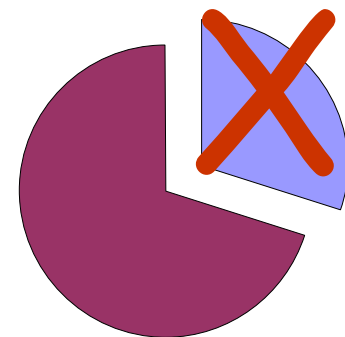

Fully adjusted: Hazard Ratio 2.60 (95% CI 2.06 – 3.28)

Anxiety and depression

Hazard ratio 3.24
(2.44 – 4.29)

Disability benefit

Fully adjusted: Hazard Ratio 1.73 (95% CI 1.30 – 2.32)

New Treatments

- VORTIOXETINE - antidepressant
 - Recently licensed in USA
 - Low levels of weight gain / sexual dysfunction
- AGOMELATINE - antidepressant
 - Placebo levels of weight gain / sexual dysfunction
 - Melatonin receptor: sleep
 - Does it work?
- KETAMINE / LANICEMINE - antidepressant
 - Early promise
 - needs better tolerability: psychosis / bladder function
 - Minimise risks of abuse

New treatments

- Quetiapine
 - Antipsychotic to antidepressant
 - Lower dose, well tolerated
 - Care with long term use
- Lamotrigine
 - Anticonvulsant to antidepressant
 - Augmentation in unipolar disease; monotherapy in bipolar depression
 - Increasing evidence of effectiveness. Well tolerated

New treatments

- Nalmefene
 - Used in alcohol dependence to reduce craving
 - Sharp reduction in intake
 - Assists with longer term psychological therapy

Conclusion

- We have pretty good treatments
- Psychiatry's problem is delivery
 - Psychiatrists
 - Psychiatric services
 - Commissioning / policy environment
- The environment's changing, psychiatric services are starting to change
- Psychiatrists...?
